CHANDLER OPENS CAMPAIGN IN 2ND DIST. SATURDAY

Criticizes Voting Record Of GOP Opponent, Denney

By MALCOLM PATTERSON

BOWLING GREEN, Ky.—A. B. (Happy) Chandler declared today the Democratic Party program for Kentucky contains "big plans" for improving the state.

"Prayerfully and earnestly," the Democratic nominee for governor said he was committing himself and his party to "a program of vast improvement," including education, highways, parks, natural resources, agriculture, industry, welfare, health research and other aspects of state government.

Chandler sharply criticized his Republican opponent in the Nov. 8 election, Edwin R. Denney. He said the GOP candidate's words and actions "do not conform," but "are far removed one from the other. One is the voice of Jacob—the other the hands of Esau."

In an address prepared for delivery as "a major policy statement" at the Democrats' formal campaign opening, Chandler said "the very first commitment is the solemn pledge to elevate and improve education in Kentucky at all levels."

Chandler, 1935-39 governor and long-time foe of a general retail sales tax, didn't mention any new taxes in his text nor outline specific ways of financing any greater appropriations for education.

But he suggested the possibility of floating bonds to finance "a system of free ways" that would "provide four-lane roads for our primary road system." However, should this be necessary, he said, "we will carry the question to the people." He had criticized toll roads in his primary campaign.

"Future expansion of the state parks," Chandler said, "can be accomplished by issuance of revenue bonds which will be retired from the income of the added facilities."

He said he wanted "to set the record straight" on his parks' policy. Recalling the Division of Parks "was created by the Reorganization Act of 1936, under my administration," the Democratic nominee asserted:

"This was the beginning of the present park system of Kentucky and one does not destroy or impair that which he has created."

The system's development, he said, had been accomplished by "capital outlay from the surplus in the state treasury. That surplus is gone." Then he recommended the revenue-bond financing plan.

Chandler also declared: "Let this be made crystal clear: The park facilities, under no circumstances, will be leased, rented, bargained or traded to any political favorite, nor will any consideration enter into the operation of the state parks save and except the consideration of efficiency, development and expansion. This statement, I think, is not susceptible of contortion, or misunderstanding."

The Democratic nominee repeatedly referred to what he called Denney's record of voting "no," when a state representative, to legislation passed by the majority Democrats in control of the

ENJOY COURIER IN ENGLAND

While Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Allen were living in England the past year, they loaned copies of The Licking Valley Courier to their downstairs neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Holmes. The Holmes family (including their sons Peter and Steven) got used to reading the West Liberty paper and in a letter Mrs. Allen received this week from Mrs. Holmes, she said they missed The Courier and would enjoy reading it occasionally.

They like to read all the news, and Mr. Holmes particularly liked to read the ads, and more particularly the automobile ads. Most English cars are of small-make, averaging thirty or more miles to a gallon of petrol (gasoline), and a gallon of petrol costs 66 cents. Mr. Holmes, who lives at No. 8 Hurst Grove, Bedford, Bedfordshire, is a chimney-sweep, which is a rather lucrative job considering the fact that every house has one or more chimneys, and they must be cleaned regularly.

VOTED 56 YEARS

Franklin Benton of Caney says D. N. Cottle has only a slightly longer voting record than he has. Benton said he cast his first ballot in 1899 and has voted every time since. He's a Democrat. He has always voted at Caney. He has always lived there and lives now within a mile of his birthplace.

Rev., Mrs. Harlen Murphy Observe Two Anniversaries During the Year

By HELEN PRICE STACY

This year marks the silver anniversary for two events important in the life of Rev. Harlen Murphy of West Liberty: his 25th wedding anniversary, and the 25th year he has been selected as pastor of Old Grassy Christian Church in Morgan county. Altogether, he has been preaching for 59 years. He observed his 85th birthday last June 7, and he recalls that his first sermon was preached when he was 26.

"I had been praying about it for some time," Mr. Murphy said, referring to a day at Upper Long Branch when the two ministers scheduled to preach did not show up. "Past time for the service some of the older women came to me and asked if I would take over. I declined the invitation. The crowd stewed and fidgeted. They came to me again, and I told them that although I had been doing lots of praying I had never preached. Then they told me if I would do the preaching they would do the praying. I said they'd better start praying then."

Thousands of Ceremonies

Mr. Murphy has not kept count of the marriages, baptisms and funerals he has performed, but figures they must number in the thousands. His biggest wedding was a triple ceremony several years ago when he was called to Christy Creek in Rowan county to read vows for three Durham sisters, whose home was at Morehead but whose father was cutting timber on Christy. He was licensed to perform marriages in Morgan County Court June 28, 1897, and his first request was to marry his aunt, Fannie Hensley, to Willie Osborne.

Many couples married by Rev. Murphy have observed golden wedding anniversaries. A few days ago Bruce McKinney of Omer asked him, "Do you remember what you did to me fifty years ago? You got me married."

The next day, Mr. Murphy saw an old friend on the street. He said to him, "Well, Johnny, we're here yet." Johnny Mays, of Flatwoods, replied, "Yes and you married me 57 years ago today."

Rev. Murphy became a Master Mason in Ezel Lodge on Jan. 27, 1900.

Says 'Such Nice Things'

Recently a woman stopped Mr. Murphy and told him she wanted him to preach her funeral, because "you say such nice things about everyone." Edna Patrick of Ezel told him, "You baptized me and you married me, and if you outlive me I want you to preach my funeral."

Mr. Murphy's most successful revival in number converted and baptised was almost 40 years ago when he was preaching in a meeting in Carter county. The revival was held at Manning Chapel at Jacobs on Tygart's Creek and 87 people were converted and baptized in the two-week meeting.

Always interested in young people, he was happy when he received a letter from his 17-year-old great-grandson, Don Murphy of Middletown, O. The letter was written Sept. 1 and told that Don had accepted a call to the ministry and was at Arlington College in California.

Has Held Many Offices

Proving that a man of God is truly an asset in community affairs, Rev. Murphy has filled the following elective or appointive offices: Appointed magistrate two times and elected twice to that office; appointed U. S. Commissioner by Federal Judge A. J. M. Cochran in 1929 and served four and a half years; appointed master commissioner of the Morgan Circuit Court by Judge G. W. E. Wolfford in 1928, serving two terms, and appointed to the same office by Judge R. C. Littleton in 1940, serving two terms, making a total of 24 years in this post; elected a member of the Morgan County Board of Education in 1938, serving two terms; served two-year term as chairman of the West Liberty City Council, beginning in 1944, and he has been chairman of the Annual meeting of Christian churches in a five-county district for several years, being elected to that post again last week when the meeting took place at Daysboro.

Rev. Murphy's work in churches throughout the county, particularly at Old Grassy and White Oak, has endeared him and his wife to many people. In recognition of his Christian service, friends entertained with a silver tea on the Murphys' silver wed-

UK Historian to Address Woman's Club at Banquet Next Tuesday

Speaker Is Familiar With Morgan's Part In Civil War Battles

Dr. Thomas D. Clark, head of the History Department of the University of Kentucky and an authority on local history in Kentucky and the South, will be the speaker for the autumn banquet of the Morgan County Woman's Club here next Tuesday evening.

Dr. Clark will speak on the subject, "The South Today."

The meeting and banquet will be in the Fellowship Room of the Christian church at 6:30 p.m. and a turkey dinner will be served by the G. C. Banks Circle. Tickets are on sale at $1.50.

Dr. Clark, a native of Mississippi, came to Kentucky in 1931 and since then has collected one of the best libraries of purely local history of Kentucky counties now extant. He has made two trips into Morgan county to collect data on the interesting part Morgan soldiers played in the Civil War, and has collected a number of letters of Civil War soldiers from Morgan as well as a number of interesting yarns from Morgan county.

Dr. Clark has written a number of books, including "The Rampaging Frontier," "The Kentucky," "Pills, Petticoats and Plows," "The Southern Country Editor," and "A History of Kentucky."

Dr. Clark in 1946 was elected by his colleagues in the University of Kentucky as the distinguished professor of the College of Arts and Sciences and in 1948 the University's trustees named him the Distinguished Professor of the University.

Dr. Clark also is versed in international history and in 1952 he went to India in the foreign service of the United States and lectured to some 70 colleges, universities and Rotary Clubs, the purpose of his trip being to bring about better understanding between the United States and Asia.

The Woman's Club is fortunate in securing this noted historian as speaker for its autumn banquet. As the banquet and lecture are open to the public, it is hoped that many will take advantage of this opportunity to hear Dr. Clark. Tickets for the banquet may be secured from any member of the club.

Atty. W. Major Gardner will be toastmaster, and Atty. Blaine Nickell will introduce Dr. Clark.

Rev. J. Ryan Nevius will speak the invocation and Rev. James Norsworthy the benediction. The pledge to the flag will be led by Mrs. W. H. Wells. Miss Florence McGuire, club president, will speak briefly to make club announcements.

DENNEY TO SPEAK IN MORGAN OCT. 10

Edwin R. Denney, Republican candidate for governor, will appear in West Liberty at 7:30 p.m. (CST) next Monday, Oct. 10, according to Mr. R. K. Nickell, county Republican chairman.

The speaking will be preceded by a Fish Fry and voters from three counties have been invited—Morgan, Elliott and Magoffin.

Denney, while here, is expected to give his views on state parks, a merit system, the state old-age lien on property owned by pensioners, the Minimum Foundation Program for school improvement and a plan which will improve Kentucky agriculturally and industrially.

The GOP nominee has said he is wholeheartedly against turning the operation of state parks over to concessionaires. Denney has accused his opponent, Democrat A. B. Chandler, of favoring leasing parks to his friends.

Denney also has said that he will work for immediate enactment of a merit system. Such a system would protect career employees in their jobs and protect them from the mass firings from political purposes. The Minimum Foundation Program is designed to provide better schools, better transportation and better-paid teachers. It is one measure to counteract the loss of Kentucky teachers to other states.

A factory in every county also is a plank in the Denney platform. Denney says he will strive to help start such factories, which will process Kentucky-grown products. One law which he has promised to repeal is the old-age lien law. The law calls for persons receiving state aid to mortgage their property to the state in return. Denney has accused Chandler of having the law passed under his administration and also of beating down an effort to have the law repealed in 1938.

Local doctors will donate their services at the clinic and a number of volunteer workers will be used.

Vaccine for the second shot is being donated by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Quality of Morgan County Tobacco Is Best In Some Time

The Morgan county tobacco crop is one of the best quality crops produced in years in the opinion of farmers, tobacco warehousemen and others, according to Morgan county agent. The tobacco is thin, chaffy and is a desirable light or straw color, yet it is expected to have good weight. The leaf is in reality a "smoker" crop.

Over 300 farmers have stripped some tobacco, and in a few early crops stripping is well under way. Farmers are urged to avoid bulking tobacco in too high case.

The curing season was perfect in this area and showers have made ideal cover crop seeding and growing conditions.

Farmers are urged to sow vetch and a small grain at a heavy rate. Sow that cover crop now. The ASC has payments available for this purpose, providing this was in the farm plan submitted. This is an excellent time to sterilize tobacco plant beds in order to save time during the spring rush and for better wildfire control.

Walter Raisor, a federal tobacco grader who grades tobacco on the market, will be in the county Oct. 26, 27 and 28. The county agent plans to have two or three grading demonstrations each day and also, where lights are available grading demonstrations will be set up at night.

For information on time and place for these grading demonstrations by the federal grader a later article will appear in the Courier.

HARRODSBURG TO PLAY W. LIBERTY AT 2 P.M. SUNDAY

Eastern, Western Leaders Vie For Bluegrass Title

A big crowd of baseball fans including several from nearby towns, is expected to be on hand Sunday when West Liberty and Harrodsburg, the top teams in the Eastern and Western divisions of the Bluegrass League, square off in West Liberty for the second game in the championship playoff series.

The game will get underway at 2 p.m. on the local athletic field.

West Liberty won the leadership of the Eastern division in the semi-final playoff and Harrodsburg won the Western division leadership.

Harrodsburg, which hasn't been beaten in league playing this year, won the opening game in the championship playoff series at Nicholasville last Sunday, 11-6. But that score doesn't indicate how tight the game was. Clarence Black's West Liberty boys had the Harrodsburg team 7-6 as they went into the seventh inning. And the Morgan countians count on evening the score here Sunday.

Big Steve Hamilton held Harrodsburg batters to 6 hits and West Liberty gathered 7 hits off southpaw John "Snook" Parrott, the phenomenal pitcher for the unbeaten Harrodsburg nine.

Parrott's Harrodsburg mates covered for him effectively when the going got rough in addition rallying for four runs in the seventh inning to preserve his perfect pitching record in the league this year.

Paul Tesla wielded the big stick for the winners with three hits in three official times at bat, including a two-run double in Harrodsburg's big seventh inning.

Third baseman Gene Oliver led off the seventh for Harrodsburg with a base on balls, followed by consecutive singles by Parrott and second baseman Bobby Flynn before Tesla stepped up to clout the long ball. Two more runs came in subsequently on walks.

Big Steve allowed costly walks and these, coupled with six errors by his mates led to West Liberty's downfall.

Richie Stacy got another homer during the affray, scoring Merle Nickell who was on second.

Big Steve Hamilton will be on the mound for West Liberty again here Sunday, and Parrott will twirl for Harrodsburg. Big Steve has a strike-out average of 11 a game so far this season.

Fans will see two of the top semi-pro teams in the State in action here Sunday. Harrodsburg has a record of 22 victories against a single loss, and that to a team outside the league, the Indianapolis Clowns. West Liberty has a record of 18 victories against 10 defeats, and was runner-up in the Kentucky Semi-Pro tournament this year.

This is West Liberty's first time to advance to the championship playoff series in the Bluegrass League and the team this year has an enthusiastic local following.

Tickets are on sale now at $1 and a big crowd is expected for the championship encounter.

Manager Clarence Black announces his starting lineup for Sunday's game will be—

Hammond, center field; Caudill, catcher; Nickell, first base; Stacy, third base; Hamilton, pitcher; Brown, left field; F. Blair, shortstop; Franklin, second base; Bob Blair or Dennis, right field.

Merle Nickell is leading the club in hitting with a 404 average. Catcher Charles Caudill is next with an average of 387. Richie Stacy with his good clutch hitting is leading the club in runs batted in. He has whiffed 4 homers this season.

Walter Brown, Big Steve, Jerry Franklin and Freddie Blair also have come through at opportune times for the locals. However, the club misses the services of Paul Haney who has returned to his Marine base.

COUNTY SCHOOL AND AGRICULTURE FAIR

It certainly is obvious to everyone who attends the county fair to realize that much progress is being made in the production of foods and livestock and farm products in the county.

The agricultural agencies which work with and help the farmers are doing an outstanding job as everyone will admit who saw the exhibits of 4-H clubs, the FFA and FHA and the home agents, Homemakers and farmers' organizations.

There were hundreds of entries this year which were equal to the state exhibits and the best in Kentucky. This is attested to by the state workers who visited the county, and the judgment of those who attended the State Fair.

The reduction in the acreage of tobacco can be more than offset by the production of food on the land withdrawn from tobacco.

Good and wholesome food is the first essential in health and vitality of a people. It is the first requisite of the human being, followed by clothing and shelter.

The two main divisions of the county fair as represented by agriculture and education are the two pillars of the progress and welfare of our local communities. The exhibits representing the schools were above the average of the past. Fewer schools were represented but the quality and ideas were better. The colorful parade led by the Morehead State College band was an inspiration to hundreds who lined Main street to view the children and their banners. The Boy Scouts and the Cub Scouts in their uniforms added to the color and glamour of the marching.

The third feature of the fair is the getting together and meeting of people from all parts of the county to exchange greetings and ideas.

The livestock exhibit on Friday was equal to the best in Kentucky. The cattle show was proof of what the farmers are doing in breeding and growing the finest type of beef and dairy cattle. The poultry show was more than double the number last year and was equal to the State Fair.

There has been some talk in the past as to whether a county fair was worth the time and cost. It is true that there is a lot of work and expense to a fair, but the hundreds of people who attend and bring exhibits are perhaps evidence that it is worthwhile.

THE GOLDEN HARVEST

It is coming to that season of the year when everyone should take a walk through a meadow or along a country road to see the autumnal loveliness. Some think the best time to trudge over the countryside is after a frost has put a coat of gold-leaf on tree, field and flower. Frost, being a shy visitor at this time of year, makes his stay so brief that it is difficult to tell just when he has called. Anyway, a change is taking place in the colors of summer, giving way to the changeable, crisp taffetas of autumn, and always with a tracery of gold. There are great meadows of golden rod, interspersed with the purple of Iron Weed and the pink of Scotch Thistle, and at their feet the gold of dried wild grasses. The blood-red of sumac pods and leaves vie with the scarlet brilliance of Indian Paint Brush, and together with Blue Gentian sparkle the gold haze of a dusty country road and the meadow beyond. There is much gold to be found by treasure hunters now and in the weeks ahead. There are golden brown buckeyes in their green-gold coverings to ward off many an ailment; there are mellow-gold pears and paw paws, wine-gold apples, burley-gold tobacco, and burnished-gold pumpkins, gourds, melons and fodder shocks, and amber gold from the sorghum mill—there is even a spattering of gold haze in the air itself.

CHANDLER OPENS

1946 Legislature, when Denney was minority.

As minority leader, Chandler said Denney had offered a budget bill allocating $34,000 a year for state parks in 1946 and 1947. The Democrat majority's bill, allocating $500,000 a year for the parks, was opposed by Denney "with all the vigor at his command," but passed, Chandler said.

Addressing himself to state employees who, he said, "more than any other group," had been "the object of confusion and misquotation," Chandler said he wanted to restate what he said last April:

" 'Capable and competent employees of the state who conduct themselves properly will be retained and new employees will be selected in accordance with the the standards now set forth in the civil service and merit systems which are a part of our laws.'

"Further, I said 'A sound and effective retiremen plan for state employees who have devoted many years to the state's service will be a part of my program.' I criticized the practice of state employment for political purposes only."

Chandler said "I cannot say it more clearly now than I said it then. I shall not deviate from this stated policy.

"No one is authorized to and no one has to my knowledge, subjected any state employees to any coercion or pressure in order to obtain a political contribution. I hold the view that a state employee is like any other Kentuckian—free and unemcumbered."

Denney, he claimed, "seeks the affection of the state employees. This week—on Tuesday—he was quoted in the (Louisville) Courier-Journal as saying with reference to state employees:

" 'There is not a single man or woman in the state that I want to get even with or punish. There is not a single man I want to reward.' But on April 12, 1955, when he spoke before the Jefferson County Republican Club in Louisville, he is quoted as saying:

" 'If I run, I am going to run as a Republican. I am not going to forsake my own party to get a few Democratic votes on the other side. If I should run and the lightning should strike, I believe that Republicans should get the spoils."

The "spoils" Chandler said Denney referred to are "state jobs now held by Democrats.' And, he added, while Denney talked in April about running as a Republican, "in September the leadership of his party said the word 'Republican' must not be mentioned during the campaign—that they knew any reference to party affiliation would bring certain defeat."

Judge O'Rear Pens Tribute to Judge Cisco and Other Judges from Morgan

By Judge Edward C. O'Rear

The death of Judge Allen N. Cisco at Ashland, Ky., September 29, 1955, turns our thought to the men of Morgan County who have served in that most important public office, the circuit judgeship.

Judge Wm. H. Burns was the first. He was elected in 1859 whilst a resident member of the Morgan County bar. He resigned the office in 1860 to enlist in the Confederate Army, where he served in the Virginia theatre of the Civil War. After peace, he settled in Virginia and was elected Circuit Judge and served with distinction till his death. He was father of Oliver W. Burns, one of West Liberty's most successful merchants and operator of the West Liberty mills. Judge Burns was father also of Harvey Burns, a lawyer at Morehead. He was grandfather of James H. Burns of West Liberty, who married Mary, the daughter of Dr. Willis G. Carter of West Liberty.

Judge Newton P. Reid, born in Montgomery, but moved to West Liberty, a member of the Morgan County bar, was appointed Circuit Judge upon Judge Burns' resignation in 1860-2). Judge John E. Cooper, born in Magoffin, graduated at Kentucky A. & M. College, settled in Morgan county, married Miss Margaret Turner, sister of (Big) James Turner and H. Clay Turner, highly successful Morgan County merchants. His only surviving son, H. Clay Cooper, lives in Montgomery County. Judge Cooper was first elected County Attorney of Morgan, then State Senator and elected Circuit Judge in August, 1884. He served in that office continuously till 1903. He died at Mt. Sterling, ending a distinguished career. He was a great Circuit Judge.

Judge David B. Redwine and his brother, Judge M. M. Redwine, natives of Morgan, served—David in the Breathitt district, Judge M. M. in the Morgan district, both with celebrated honors. Before his election as Circuit Judge, M. M. Redwine served as County Attorney of Elliott and then as Commonwealth's Attorney for the district for some two or three terms. He lived at Sandy Hook.

Judge Allen N. Cisco who was born in the Eastern part of Morgan County, admitted to the bar at West Liberty and elected Circuit Judge of the district, and latterly as Circuit Judge of Carter-Boyd-Lawrence District. He was a conscientious painstaking judge, truly a native son of Morgan soil and stock.

It is no small credit of the Morgan County bar that it has provided such outstanding jurists to serve Kentucky in that great responsibility of administering justice.

I knew them all personally except Judge Burns, and practiced in all their courts, except Judges Burns and Reid.

The important office of Circuit Judge is that by which the peace is kept, orderly society maintained, criminals punished and crime suppressed, and the differences between citizens composed under rules of law conceived to do justice among men. Moreover, it is that official power that insures the protection of the human rights of life, liberty and property under the Constitution.

In all, the Morgan County bar has included six Circuit Judges and one Appellate Judge; the Elliott bar three Circuit Judges (one of whom is also accredited to Morgan) and one of whom became Appellate Judge.

Magoffin County bar has had Circuit Judges.

The Rowan County bar three Circuit and one Appellate Judge.

And the Johnson County bar three Circuit Judges, one also accredited to Magoffin, his native county.

A strong bar, measured in character, ability and civic rating of its members reflects in a large measure the importance of a county. Not that they stand apart from their neighbors, but do stand as contributors to the sum of community culture and ethical behavior. They help to illustrate a county's intellectual and moral ranking. Any community that produces or maintains a strong bar is not barren of talent of a high order. Thorns do not bear figs.

CLERIC STRICKEN AT CHURCH DIES

FLORRESS, Ky., Oct. 4—(By Nora Easterling)—While attending the Union meeting at Jones Creek Saturday night, Elder Dan Lemaster was stricken ill and rushed to West Liberty Hospital, and never regained consciousness. He passed away early Sunday. His children have been called.

Your writer accompanied my son, Elder Toney Easterling and Cash Hamilton of Fairborn, O., to the Union meeting at Centerville church Saturday night. I met some very interesting people including a granddaughter of Aunt Jeston Gevedon, Mrs. Paul Gevedon, and four great-great-granddaughters of Aunt Jeston: Frankie Louise, Luida Carol, Erma Wray and Alice Mariam Gevedon. Aunt Jeston is nearing her 104th birthday. I received a glad surprise when I met Mrs. Elsie H. Lacy. I have read some of her good poems in the Enterprise Baptist minutes.

Mrs. Angie Fraley of Columbus, Ohio, and son Astor Fraley of Elkfork were visiting in our community Sunday. They reported they enjoyed The Courier very much and looked forward to your writer's news.

Elder Walter Easterling, Assistant Moderator of Jones Creek church, Elder Tooney Easterling of Fairborn, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Easterling and Dora attended church at Jones Creek Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Manford Williams, Aunt Nan Williams, Mrs. Reb McClure and Carol and Mrs. Anos Conley attended the Brown memorial service at Paint Creek Sunday.

Leova Williams sliced the end of one of her fingers off on a screen door. She picked up the slice off the floor and took it to her mother, Mrs. Vinson Williams. They rushed her to the hospital at West Liberty and had her finger sewed back on. Leova said her finger was numb and she didn't feel any pain at church Sunday night.

Mrs. Dora Pack and son of Matthew, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brooks and Henry Collins of Jones Creek, Mr. and Mrs. Harve Litteral of West Liberty attended church at Lacey Creek Sunday night.

It has been reported that in the minutes the Union meeting is stated the fourth Friday, Saturday and Sunday in this month for Lacey Creek church. A correction: The Union meeting at Lacey Creek church will be next Friday night, Saturday, Saturday night and Sunday, or in other words, beginning Oct. 7 through Oct. 9. Elder A. C. Bradley, Assistant Moderator of the Association, is called and agreed to attend. If I am not mistaken, Elder Jiles Beculhimer promised to attend.

SCHOOL VISITS

By BERNARD E. WHITT

The school at Cow Branch was visited by Bernard E. Whitt Monday. This school now has a gravel and graded road for the first time. Miss Shirley Hutchinson is teaching the school for the second year. There were 14 children present. They were Dona Johnson, Betty Jean Johnson, Patty Johnson, Nora Johnson, Jessie Johnson, Arthur Johnson, Ethel Johnson, Emma Johnson, Cecil Barker, Helen Barker, Jimmie Evans, Shirley Evans, Joyce and Olliene Riggsby.

Since they have a good road, the pupils want the Bookmobile and the county superintendent to visit them. They do not have any books to read and would like to be sponsored by the SCF. They do not have any playground euipment and have to bring their drinking water from home. They would like to get a well. Most of the parents have visited the school. Mrs. Ruth Conover visited the school recently. Several parents get the Licking Valley Courier and the children like to read what other schools are doing.

Squire Nickell school near the head of Stacy Fork is being taught by Arnold Haney. When Bernard E. Whitt visited the school Monday, the school was not in session as Mrs. Haney was very ill and there was no substitute teacher available. The teacher has enrolled 13 pupils. The new road up Stacy Fork goes to within about a half mile of the school. It is hoped the road will be extended at least to the school, if possible. The school bus picks up pupils from the intersection with the road to the Squire Nickell school. One pupil, Nancy Nickell, gets on the bus and goes to West Liberty.

Anyone who has ever traveled up this beautiful valley should make a trip with his family some Sunday and see wide bottoms, good farms and lovely homes. He will be surprised at this fine farming community. From the valley came two state senators and bankers, a county superintendent, a dentists whose four sons are doctors, a sheriff of Morgan county, a great lawyer of Ardmore, Okla., one of Kentucky's best doctors and surgeons at Pineville, a lawyer who is chief consel for the Independent Oil Co. of Washington, D. C., a farm specialist now in South America, the manager of a local construction company, teachers leaders and other valuable citizens. There must be something in the fertility and beauty of a country to make worthwhile men and women.

Many a farmer has the cash he needed to buy a new tractor or other farm equipment because he put the money away earlier in U. S. Savings Bonds. The average useful life of a tractor is around ten years. In that time $750 invested in E Bonds will grow into $1,000.

You've often read or heard references to savings as a "nest egg" for your future. The Treasury Department reminds us that china nest eggs don't grow into chickens, whereas money put into series E savings Bonds can grow for nearly twenty years. And you can count your chickens before they are hatched: the cash values for each six months are guaranteed in advance by Uncle Sam.

Denney Plans No Exclusions

• We have no illusions about the result of the November election if Kentuckians are properly informed and understand the basic issues of the campaign between Edwin R. Denney, the nominee of the Republican party, and A. B. Chandler, the choice of the Democrats. Denney was nominated by his party after a quiet, dignified solicitation of the electorate. Chandler carried off his party's nomination in a campaign unexcelled in the history of the state for vindictiveness, rancor, hate and rabble rousing.

• And there the two candidates stand now, as they stood in the primary, each soliciting the governorship; one quiet, dignified and dedicated to good government, and the other holding forth the promise of hate's fulfillment against all who in good conscience had to oppose him.

• In Ed Denney's campaign, the people—all who are willing to choose—are invited to participate. They can come where there is no hate, they can join under a banner carrying no slogans of vengeance.

• Ed Denney thinks of his campaign as a concerted movement of Kentuckians seeking to maintain the dignity of the Commonwealth, preserve the advances already made and promote measures to assure its future progress. In such a program, hate, vengeance, strife and disunity can have no part.

• Ed Denney solicits your support, asks your participation in a campaign that you can call your very own. It is not a one-man leadership seeking to exclude anyone. Can there be any hesitancy about a choice? We think not. The inherent sense of the rightness of things possessed by all Kentuckians of good will dictates no other choice but to support Ed Denney.
